(By the Associated Press)

New York, Oct. 17.—Wet and dry forces face each other today before Federal Judge Learned Hand in the fight between Federal prohibition enforcement authorities and foreign and American steamship lines over the validity of Attorney General Daugherty's liquor ruling.

The calendar of Judge Hand's court was cleared for the hearings of temporary injunctions returnable today, restraining the enforcement authorities from putting into effect the ruling forbidding American and foreign ships leaving port after October 1 from carrying liquor under seal into or out of American ports.

Array of Counsel.

A distinguished array of counsel was present, representing the American prohibition authorities, the treasury department and the Cunard, Anchor, White Star, French, Holland-American, American Red Star and United American lines and the International Navigation company.

The government forces were prepared to present arguments to show cause why they should not be permanently enjoined from putting into effect the provisions of the Daugherty ruling. Attorneys for the steamship companies were prepared for a bitter fight. It was stated by representatives of both factions that no matter what the result of the hearings, the test cases would be brought before the United States supreme court.

Millions of dollars in property, trade rights and good will are said to be at stake while counsel for foreign lines have claimed that infringement of treaties between American and foreign countries and violation of the foreign laws are points involved.

NEGOTIATIONS UNDER WAY.

Washington, Oct. 17.—Negotiations between the British embassy and the state department looking to the release from custody of vessels of British registry seized on prohibition forces outside the three mile limit were expected to take more definite form as a result of the definite refusal of the British government to enter an agreement which would permit of reciprocal authority to make such seizures.

A suggestion from the United States that an agreement whereby the two governments could exercise special supervision over American and British shipping in coastal waters outside the internationally accepted limit of jurisdiction would be of material assistance to American authorities in enforcement of customs and liquor statutes was opposed by the British government in a note made public last night, on the ground that an undesirable precedent would be established. Great Britain offered to co-operate in every way consistent with her fixed policies to assist in curbing the activities of smugglers along the American coast.

The British note pointed out that Great Britain has already taken every step to prevent practices as to registry issuance and clearance papers of which the United States had complained in its note, adding that Great Britain had supplemented these steps since the American note had been received and it was hoped "the measure taken will prove successful in preventing any breaches in the local law."

Georgia Casting Vote For Senator

(By the Associated Press)

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 17.—With rain in several sections, Georgia voters were casting their ballots today in a special Democratic primary to nominate a successor to the late United States Senator Thomas E. Watson.

Each of the four candidates—Gov. Thomas W. Hardwick, Seaborn Wright, John W. Cooper and Walter F. George—made last minute claims of the support of the "loyal fifty thousand and McDuffie county."

Mrs. William H. Felton, the first woman United States senator, will end her term when the nominee of the special primary is elected in the general election November 7. She publicly endorsed the candidacy of Gov. Hardwick, who appointed her following the death of Senator Watson.

TWO ARRESTS EXPECTED IN HALL CASE

Widow and Her Brother To Be Questioned by Authorities
Probing Murder

EXAMINE RELATIVES.

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 17.—Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall and her eccentric brother, Willie Stevens, were brought to the court house by Detective Ford David shortly after 11 o'clock today for further examination by authorities investigating the murder of the Rev. David Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Reinhardt Mills.

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 17.—Having obtained postponement of the projected handing over the inquiry into the murder of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Reinhardt Mills, to state authorities, county officials today were to question Henry Stevens, brother of Mrs. Frances Hall, widow of the slain pastor, and a maid in the Hall home.

Persons close to the prosecutors of both Somerset and Middlesex counties, who have been in charge of the investigation, predicted that a man and a woman would be arrested on charges of first degree murder before the day closes.

Contents of letters purported to have been written by Dr. Hall to Mrs. Mills, and which have been guarded carefully previously, were said to show beyond a doubt the doctor and Mrs. Mills were accustomed to meet in the lane where the dead bodies were found.

Authorities indicated they were more hopeful of solving the month-old mystery than at any time previously during the investigation. Shortly before their arrival, County Prosecutor Bekman of Somerset, and Stricker of Middlesex, who have predicted at least two arrests before night, began questioning Henry Stevens, another brother of Mrs. Hall, who had driven over from his home in Lavallette, in response to a summons.

The authorities later planned to question Mrs. Florence Norwood, attorney for Charlotte Mills, the slain woman's daughter, to ask her as to the authenticity of letters purported to have been written by Dr. Hall to Mrs. Mills, which were published this morning by a newspaper.

The letter couched in endearing terms of the most extravagant nature were reported to have been obtained from Charlotte. The authorities want to know how the newspaper was able to obtain them when they were withheld from those seeking to solve the mystery.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—"Continued shrinkage in the purchasing power of the farmer's dollar is heading agriculture toward certain destruction via the rocks of the auctioneer's hammer and reefs of the mortgage foreclosure route."

This is the opinion and prediction of James R. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, given in an exclusive interview with NEA Service here.

Howard, who is recognized mouthpiece of more than 2,000,000 practical dirt farmers scattered over the country and knit together through their various county bureaus into a formidable national body which he heads, bases his prognosis—pessimistic as it may seem—on the following factors:

First—The inevitable and disastrous effect which he says will follow further decline in the farmer's ability to convert his produce into other commodities below the present 64 per cent level of his dollar's purchasing power.

Second—The continued shrinkage of the agricultural dollar since 1913 (taken as the normal year) and its recent terrific plunge from 71 per cent in July to its present rock-bottom position of less than 64 per cent.

Year Marks Crisis

Howard, who is coming more into recognition as the man who really conceived and planned the now famous congressional "farm bloc," says:

"This year will mark a turn in the agricultural crisis. But a turn for the better will be ushered in upon the scene too late to save an untold number of farms all over the country from being lost to their owners."

"While business men are wondering what is the matter with business, the farmer isn't puzzled. He has only to open his pocketbook to find the startling answer. He has only to note the exchange figure denoting the purchasing price of his dollar."

BEGIN MAKING FLOUR SOON IN FORKS PLANT

Mill Manager and Elevator
Manager Told to go Ahead
By Commission

The state mill and elevator project at Grand Forks will be put into operation the latter part of next week. O. L. Spencer, mill manager, and B. L. Simmons, informed members of the Industrial Commission that the mill and the organization necessary to start operations will be ready by that time, and received instructions to proceed to manufacturing flour and receive grain for storage as soon as possible.

It also was declared, at a meeting of the commission and the mill and elevator managers, that formal opening of the mill will take place Monday, October 30. The managers informed the commission that in a new mill it was well to permit operation of machinery for a brief period before the formal opening, so that any adjustments might be made that are necessary.

The elevator will be thrown open to storage of grain as fast as it can be obtained while the mill program will proceed on a conservative basis, being expanded as orders for flour are obtained to justify increased output. The Industrial Commission authorized arrangements for immediate credit of $100,000 for the Mill and Elevator Association, to carry on the manufacture of flour.

Under the plan adopted for putting the project into operation, one unit of the flour mill with a capacity of 1,000 barrels of flour in 24 hours will be operated, and the other units will be operated as business warrants.

Confer Full Authority

Full power and authority was conferred upon the men listed to run the project to take such steps as they see fit to make the business a success, the commission putting the responsibility upon these men. Mr. Spencer was instructed to complete his sales organization and to make a vigorous sales campaign in effort to create a market for the flour. Mr. Spencer informed the commission he had engaged a head miller and would be ready to grind flour next week.

Manager Simmons of the elevator unit was instructed to open the elevator for storage of grain for use of the mill and to operate as a grain storage warehouse. Members of the commission stated they felt that need of use of the elevator for general storage purposes was greater at this time than operation along any other line. Mr. Simmons was told to solicit storage business but not to allow one concern to monopolize too.

THREE MOHALL BANKERS MAKE GUILTY PLEAS

Admit Using Mails to Defraud, in Federal Court
At Minot

Minot, N. D., Oct. 17.—Pleas of guilty to charges of using the mails to defraud were entered here in federal court this forenoon by Frank W. Wiebe, W. B. Bergman and J. C. Peters, former cashier, assistant cashier and president respectively of the now defunct Mohall State bank. The charge of conspiracy to use the mails to defraud against the three has been dismissed on motion of United States District Attorney M. A. Hildreth.

Judge Miller announced this afternoon that he would not pass sentence on the three men until the action against C. D. Griffiths of Minneapolis, former president of the bank, charged with conspiracy to use the mails to defraud, has been finished. The drawing of the jury in this case was completed at noon and the first witness was called when court convened. The defendants are at liberty under a continuing bond.

Berringer of this city, and at one time engaged in business in this city, passed away at his home a mile north of Wanboy, S. D. last week. His two brothers from Dickinson attended the funeral here. Death was result of a paralytic stroke.

AVIATOR MAINTAINS SPEED OF 248.5 MILES PER HOUR; FLIGHT IS "WITHOUT WINGS"

(By the Associated Press)

Mr. Clemens, Mich., Oct. 17.—Aeronautical engineers and army and navy experts at Selfridge field were speculating today as to what might be the next unheard of aerial feat. They came here a week ago prepared for surprises but none had expected to see a human being plunge through space at nearly 400 feet a second, nor had they expected to see an airplane flown virtually without the aid of wings.

This was the performance yesterday of Lieutenant R. L. Maughan of the army, who on Saturday won the Pulitzer prize classic flying a Curtiss-Army biplane, with which he was victorious Saturday. Lieutenant Maughan yesterday traveled one kilometer at the rate of 248.5 miles an hour, surpassing by more than 32 miles an hour, the previous official record and making the distance 28 miles, an hour faster than any mark previously recorded.

Flight Without Wings

The pilot's great speed was even surpassed in the opinion of some of the engineers, by his "flight without wings."

During the Pulitzer race Lieut. Maughan's Pylon work started many pilots on the field. At more than 200 miles an hour, he would tilt his machine on one side for a considerable distance then complete the 120 degree turn up side down. This aroused speculation as to the distance a machine might be flown on its side, a position in which the planes had little or nothing to do with keeping it in the air. Lieut. Maughan demonstrated by a flight across Selfridge field, a distance of about a mile, that under certain conditions a plane might be flown in that position for a much greater distance than usually is required in making turns.

Important Bearing

It appeared that the speed of the powerful motor was sufficient to pull the machine through the air and at the same time hold it aloft. The feat probably will have an important bearing on future wing design it was said.

The plane, built by the Curtiss corporation, mounts a 400 horsepower Curtiss engine and is similar in design to the machines that finish in the first four places in the Pulitzer trophy race.

The performance convinced observers, they declared, that development of aircraft was still far from its peak, and that there was virtually no limit to the speed that might be attained.

The government tests are to be continued for several days.

GREEKS FLEE BEFORE TURK OCCUPATION

30,000 Refugees in Most Pitti-
able Condition Evacuating
Eastern Thrace

Adrianople, Oct. 17.—Thirty thousand Greeks and Armenians have passed from this city to the west since Saturday, and the road between here and the Maritza river is an unbroken line of men, women and children with ox carts, cattle and camels.

Through a steady downpour of rain they are plodding doggedly toward their unknown destinations, driven forward by the nameless fear which has gripped the whole populace of eastern Thrace since the government's bulletins were posted on Saturday announcing the terms of the Mudania armistice, which provides for occupation of the province by the Turks within 45 days.

The members of the allied missions stationed here declare the extent of the refugee exodus indicates the Turkish army entry will find Eastern Thrace almost uninhabited. The procession has been orderly, but the misery of the refugees is already extreme, and pneumonia is claiming many victims if the present inclement weather continues.

Every road leading to Maritza is jammed with humanity, cattle and wagons. This whole flood converges upon a single road as it approaches the Karagatch bridge across the Maritza. The refugees believe if they can reach Karagatch they will be safe from the Turks. This small village, which is just across the boundary, will be in neutral territory until the peace conference decides its fate.

FIRE ON U. S. DESTROYER

Mitylene, Oct. 17.—Dr. Mabel Elliott, of Benton Harbor, Michigan, who has been director of medical work for the refugees on the island off Smyrna coast, will leave this week for Athens, having been invited by the American relief committee to become medical director for the entire refugee area.

Upon her return Sunday from Chios, Dr. Elliott said she had met Lieutenant Commander Herbert A. Ellis of the American destroyer Mac Leish.

"The Turks had again fired on the destroyer at Iverly (Alivali) and a rifle bullet came within a few feet of Commander Ellis," she said.

Dispatches from Athens early this month said an American destroyer had been bombed by the Turks while taking off refugees at Alivali, a town north of Smyrna. The report at the time was discredited in Washington because of the lack of official confirmation through the navy department.

CHARGE WOMEN WITH ROBBERY

Sioux Falls, S. D., Oct. 17.—Mrs. Ruth Malaskie and Mrs. Ellen Eekes, sisters, were arraigned in municipal court this morning on a charge of aiding and abetting in the robbery of Mrs. Mabel Davis of $800 in cash here late Saturday night and were held in the county jail in default of $1,500 bail. Mrs. Davis charged that, while riding with Mrs. Malaskie in her car, the latter stopped, left the car for a few minutes, and while she was gone, a man robbed Mrs. Davis.

GOMPERS ON LABOR

Night of Committee Sessions
Hammers Policies Into Shape For Today

(By the Associated Press)

New Orleans, Oct. 17.—San Francisco was awarded the 1923 convention of the American Legion by acclamation today.

The committee on time and place for the convention reported that delegates from 30 states signed the report.

New Orleans, Oct. 17.—The American Legion, in national convention here today heard Samuel Gompers, head of the American Federation of Labor, tell the laborer's aims and aspirations, what he believes in, rights and duties are.

Mr. Gompers and Kenesaw M. Landis, supreme commissioner of Baseball, received a noisy welcome from the "buddies" when they entered the convention hall.

Slow Getting Under Way.

The session was slow in getting under way, after a night of strenuous play, with outdoor dancing on streets and sidewalks under the palm trees of Jackson Square, New Orleans' historic "Place d'Armes," scene of the assembling of Old Hickory's army of frontiersmen and Gulf Pirates to make war on the British veterans of Napoleonic wars in 1815.

Numerous delegates marched to the hall, over the ancient cobblestones that have been doing duty as paving almost since the days of Andrew Jackson. Mist hung over the river, and the gray hulks of destroyers of the navy flotilla loomed big through the rising vapors.

Saddest of all persons connected with the convention was the individual who had bought the tobacco concession at the convention hall, only to find at the last minute that smoking was barred by the convention committee and the state fire marshal on account of the fire hazard.

Policies were hammered into shape through a night of committee sessions and it is expected that tomorrow the reports of many of these committees will be laid before the convention. The all-important resolutions committee will bring in a number of expected resolutions and is prepared to table a number of other topics.

Among these, it is learned, is the beer and light wine issue and any reference to the Ku Klux Klan. Friends of beer and light wine vigorously assert that an open fight will be made before the convention to get an expression on this issue. Persistent rumors are that the Ku Klux also may be made an issue in open sessions, but these reports lack verification.

With the declaration of Hanford MacNider, national commander, that the American Legion regarded the interests of the disabled service men as its first responsibility still ringing in ears, (Continued on Page 2)

The C-2 was built at a cost of $270,000.

Woman

(By the Associated Press)

New York, Oct. 17.—Oscar M. Martelliere, real estate and insurance broker, who was shot five times by Mrs. Paulette Saludes, a diminutive French woman, late yesterday, died early today in a hospital. The shooting occurred in Martelliere's office, and was witnessed by his stenographer, Miss Gertrude Thompson.

Mrs. Saludes who made unsuccessful efforts to end her own life by jumping from the window of a lawyer's office where she hurried after shooting Martelliere, is under arrest.

Martelliere's widow told police that Mrs. Saludes told her several days ago she loved Martelliere and that he had promised to marry her if he could get a divorce. Mrs. Martelliere said she informed Mrs. Saludes she would not stand in his way and asked her: "Are you sure he will marry you?" Mrs. Saludes replied Mrs. Martelliere said: "Yes, if he doesn't, something terrible will happen to him."

The Governor also telegraphed Congressman Young who is still in Washington and urging him to take this matter up with the President and with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

FARMER'S DOLLAR VALUED AT $1.30

Dollar is meant, the farmer's ability to take a load of merchandise to market—produce that he has grown—and sell it for the sum of $1.00.

In 1913 a farmer could take a hundred dollars earned in such fashion and turn around and buy $100 worth of material—tractors, seed, shoes for himself and children and other necessary items.

But since 1913, this converting power has gradually shrunk, until today, the same farmer taking the same load of produce to market gets more—$1.30—but he is able to buy only $64 worth of return merchandise.

His purchasing power has dropped from 100 per cent to less than 64 per cent. Constantly facing that situation, with mortgages to

"Now is the time for the city man to realize what is happening because the city man depends on the farms, and when they're hit, he is hit too—only probably worse than the farmer."

"In co-operative marketing rests the cure-all for most of America's agricultural trouble. Aware of his own predicament the farmer holds to the co-operative pathway as his saving beacon light."

"Through the establishment of stable and profitable markets the current dilemma such as now faces our farmers will be solved. Grant strides are being made in this direction."

"And as I have said, the farmer's own method to this end is co-operative marketing, and a revision of short and long-time credit to an intermediate credit."

"The last-named relief will permit him to hold and store in his own bins and warehouses whatever surplus of production is on hand until such a time as he may market it to advantage—both his own and the general public's."

Crisis is Near

"The farmer is not a master of high finance. But if he is to survive as the backbone of the country, high finance must come to his rescue."

"For that reason I am appealing to the business man to help his rural brother. If the farm goes the city will follow. We must have farms."

"If the coming crisis does not drive the individual farmer from the land, and into the hands of big syndicates, then a reversion back to primitive farming may come about."

"By this I mean, that the farmer will be forced to grow only those things necessary for the support of his own household such as obtained in the practice of 50 years ago when there were no agricultural special-ists, and farming was done mostly for the family or the nearest settlement only."

"I am hoping that this will never happen. A reversion is something never to be thought of. So I am appealing for the farmer still left. Help him to keep his land. You can do this by co-operating with him."

HERE IS A REMEDY:

The American Farm Bureau Federation is launching a big campaign to bring about the amendment of the Federal Land Bank act, by abolishing the limitation of $10,000 placed on farm loans.

Thereby, it is contended, hundreds of farmers who must settle on March 1, 1923, on loans contracted five years ago, will be saved from bankruptcy.

The proposed amendment, which is starting a national furor, would grant farmers loans on an unrestricted basis, in keeping with the value of the average farm.

The plan carries a big agricultural appeal. Howard, who is president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, and sponsor of the measure, sees in it the farmer's final hope to avert destruction and his means for recuperation.

and the means of marketing these products co-operatively are what the farmer wants. And for these two things—and for the latter especially—I ask the sympathetic support of all business men.

"Save the farm and you save all. Let's get back to the highroad of prosperity."

RED CROSS USES OVER MILLION IN RELIEF

Washington, Oct. 14.—Seventy-two disasters in which 674 persons were killed and 521 injured, called for emergency relief measures and the expenditure of more than $1,441,000 by the American Red Cross during the fiscal year ending June 30. According to a statement based upon the forthcoming annual report of the Red Cross, these disasters caused property damage estimated at more than $30,000,000 and rendered more than 145,000 persons homeless or otherwise in need of assistance. In one section alone, the report states, on the Louisiana-Mississippi border, Red Cross fed daily for weeks more than 28,000 flood refugees.

The greatest toll of life was taken by hurricane and tornado, while the overflowing of rivers, the breaking of dams and torrential rain storms drove the greatest number of people from their homes. Fire also played an important part in the chain of disasters which made insistent demands for Red Cross relief workers.

The year's disasters reported included 26 floods, 19 tornadoes or storms, 15 fires, 4 epidemics, 2 theatre collapses, 2 shipwrecks, one of which was the wreck of the U. S. airship Roma, a bridge collapse, mine explosion, railway collision and a drought.

LANDIS GETS OVATION FROM LEGION BOYS

ing in their cars, world war veterans began the second day's session of their convention here with the rehabilitation question for the chief topic of discussion.

In this connection, the Legionnaires were considering the bulletin issued by Lemuel Bolds, National adjutant, advising them that millions of dollars collected during the war for the benefit of soldiers and sailors rightfully belonged to the American Legion.

After citing certain cases and decisions and asserting the Legion was the only organization in its class to legally disburse the funds, the national adjutant advised the post commanders to take proper steps to secure all war chest collections.

The reply of Col. C. E. Forbers, director of the United States veterans' bureau to the Legion rehabilitation commission's attack on the government's record of performance in dealing with the veterans, also was receiving attention.

In his statement, Colonel Forbes declared the veterans' bureau could not be criticised for mistakes made under the first Langley Act in as much as it had nothing to do with the selection of sites or determining the sort of hospitals to be erected. He asserted that under the second Langley bill, he had been given authority and funds which had enabled the bureau to establish a record of which he was proud.

The Legion's rehabilitation report termed the government's record "a series of tragic mistakes, postponements, delays, blunders and politics."

GREAT BRITAIN REFUSES PLAN

(By the Associated Press)
Washington, Oct. 17.—Great Britain, in a communication delivered today to the state department, is understood to have declined to agree to the suggestion of Secretary Hughes, for a reciprocal agreement for extension of the right of search and seizure so as to give the American prohibition navy jurisdiction outside of the three-mile limit.

parents, today was sentenced to a life term in the state penitentiary. Detloff, according to the county attorney, confessed August 6, last, that he slew Wagner, who was 72 years old, and his wife with an axe while they slept so that Mrs. Detloff could get her share of their estate, estimated at $135,000.

August F. Detloff, accused slayer of Mr. and Mrs. John Wagner, his wife's parents, near Grand Meadow the night of July 12, last, today was sentenced to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary by District Judge J. F. D. Meighen. The arraignment and sentencing of Detloff occupied nine minutes.

To the Young Men and Women of Bismarck:

STOP AND THINK!

Statistics show that of every one hundred average men aged twenty-five, healthy and vigorous in mind and body and dependent on their exertions for their own support, by the time they have reached fifty-five:

- 20 have died;
- 1 has become very rich;
- 3 are in good circumstances;
- 46 are still working for their own living without any accumulation;
- 30 are more or less dependent upon children, relatives or charity for support. Some of them still able to do light work are being replaced by younger men.

Will you be one of the four who have succeeded, of the forty-six who are working, or of the thirty who are dependent?

It's up to you!

Remember the best way to avoid a dependent old age is to save money steadily. A little put by month by month, year by year will surprise you by its total in twenty, thirty or forty years.

The Savings Department of the FIRST NATIONAL BANK, THE PIONEER BANK, will accept any sum as an initial deposit in an account from $1.00 up and compound interest thereon at four per cent every three months.

SHOOT TWO GUARDS THEN BREAKS JAIL

Herbert Wilson, Former Evangelist, and Notorious Thief Frees Himself

(By the Associated Press)
Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 17.—Herbert Wilson, former evangelist, convicted of the murder of Herbert Cox during an attempted jail break several months ago, escaped from the county jail here today. Two other prisoners also escaped.

Wilson, armed with a revolver held and shot one of the turn keys and taking the keys opened the doors to his liberty early today.

Wilson was one of the most spectacular prisoners in the county jail, having been captured by Federal authorities after a search for many months extending throughout the country and resulting from mail and store robberies estimated to reach over a million dollars.

He was well known in Canada. Herbert Wilson, known by police and federal operative as "master criminal" convicted of slaying his brother, Herbert Cox, escaped from the county jail here today with another convicted murderer, Adam Ward, and Guido Spignola, held on a robbery charge.

The trio outside the jail held up a post office employee and taking his automobile escaped. The jail break was carefully timed for just before 7 o'clock, when the guards had been taken from the jail before changing shifts. The jail breakers beat the night turnkey, Henry Purrier, after having held up two inside guards.

A fourth prisoner was believed to have escaped with them. The jail breakers were armed with revolvers evidently smuggled in by a friend.

Investigation later revealed that only three escaped.

When I first used Doan's, my kidneys were sluggish in action and I had a dull, steady pain in my back. I often had to get up several times during the night to pass the kidney secretions. Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me and I got three boxes at Breslow's Drug Store. After using them my trouble disappeared. I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for such trouble knowing them to be a remedy of merit."

WANTED: SALESMEN
A shortage of sales managers is reported by a "white collar" employment bureau in New York City, which supplies business executives, efficiency experts and college professors just as similar organizations supply teamsters, cooks and day laborers.
"There is a constant and increasing demand for sales managers," says the report. "Recently we have been supplying men for these positions at salaries averaging $231 a week. And we have trouble finding enough men to meet the demand."
Young men, "undecided what to do," give a thought to salesmanship as a career.
And, by the way, the young bookkeeper who is struggling along and sees no future in his line should be heartened, by the news that plenty of jobs paying $15,000 to $50,000 a year await the superbookkeepers known as auditors.

The business of our country went through an era in which the big fortunes went to men who were geniuses at production. The corporations known as trusts were built up as producing organizations.
High efficiency in production, however, means nothing if there is no market for what is produced. This is where the salesmen steps in.
The sales engineer now ranks in importance with the production engineer.
Salesmanship is the coming field. For competition is bound to be sharp and keen in the post-war years that lie ahead. And it is salesmanship that "cops the business" in high competition.

Traveling on trains you meet many crackerjack salesmen, veterans, grown old and white-haired in the service.
But salesmanship is primarily a young man's game. The vigor, determination, never-lagging energy and enthusiasm of the genuine "go-getter" are qualities of youth.
Youth will go after the orders, sell the goods.
Middle age and old age, with the wisdom and judgment and foresight of maturity, will stay at home and produce the things to fill the orders.
It is generally realized that the problems of production have been nearly solved, and that the real problem of business is distribution. Making distribution more scientific and less wasteful, by finding economical shortcuts from producer to consumer, is a job that is up to the sales engineers and their armies of salesmen.
Majority of our economic problems are sales problems—problems of marketing.

DISPUTE
French statistics, recently circulated, show that Germany since the end of the war has paid only $40,000,000 cash indemnity, or $1.61 a year for each German.
Lang, German counsel in New York City, disputes. He claims that the figure should be $522,000,000 instead of $400,000,000. That would make the cash indemnity $2.10 a year, instead of $1.61, for each German. We stand corrected.
Incidentally, Lang claims that Germany has paid about $9,823,000,000 total indemnity, to date, including value of lost territory and other property surrendered.

LEVITY
The next thing on the program apparently will be the decline of the American mercantile marine in its passenger-ship end.
Thirty traffic will be willing to go to Canadian ports to sail on liquor-serving foreign ships. Or the foreign liners will enter our ports and take on their saloon supplies after they pass the three-mile limit, transferred from other ships.
However, this may be in keeping with our modern mercantile marine policy, as it might enable Washington to sell our passenger liners at 50 cents a piece.

IMPORTANT
What is important, worth noticing, of the many agencies of the European situation? Well, here's one that stands out pretty strongly—in fact, indelibly:
The French government has not yet ratified the program of the Washington naval disarmament conference. This is the "key" to the European situation, if there is any key. An American can understand the French claim that they need a big army to protect them against Germany. But, for that purpose, she doesn't need a supermavy, especially submarines.
Is Napoleon's ghost rising?

ENDURANCE
Big Jim Hanbery, formerly a Kansas school teacher, was wounded 44 times during the war, left on the field for dead, and honored by funeral and memorial services in many towns.
However, he showed up living, is a reporter in Omaha, and recently was decorated with the distinguished service cross.
Forty-four wounds! And he's still alive. Hypochondriacs, morbidly terrified at the slightest ache and pain, should paste this in their hats.

FEATHERS
Bird-of-paradise plumes and wings, $15,000 worth of them, are seized in raids on nine millinery shops in New York City. To get their property back, the owners must prove that the plumage was legally in their possession before the passage of the wild bird feather exclusion law in October, 1913.
Gents with red noses might view this as "infringement on personal liberty." What is the difference between prohibiting booze and prohibiting feathers?

Now the ex-kaiser says he will marry in November. That's the way with young authors.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

HARD TIMES FOR LORDS

Dukes, barons and other landed proprietors in Britain are having more trouble than usual with their real estate. It appears from a page of illustrated advertisements in the London Times. A recent issue contains the announcement of a series of auction sales of estates ranging from 14 to 117,000 acres. There are pictures of properties like Kingsgate Castle, with battlemented towers, for sale by Baron Averbury. It has eight reception rooms, 28 bed and dressing rooms and five bathrooms. Any American with a little money and tired of paying rent should look into this opportunity.
The Duke of Argyll, one of whose ancestors earned the undying gratitude of his neighbors by erecting all around his estates a series of fences and posts, on which they could scratch their backs, is offering two islands and a forest and other land, 51,700 acres in all. Shooting and fishing are said to be fine and the owner makes his own game laws.
Any one desiring an early sixteenth century residence, with towers, draw-bridge, portcullis, moat, etc., but brought up to date with electric lights and a central heating plant, should consider the manor or lordship of Sedburgh. It has thirteen bedrooms, but only three bathrooms.

Earl Howe would like to sell his freehold of Woodlands, 221 acres, including a nine-hole golf course. The estate of Doehel in the lordship of Lochaber, 117,000 acres, is for sale. It is just the place to stars and grouse and fish for salmon and trout. It belongs to Colonel D. W. Cameron of Lochiel, C. M. G., A. D. C., who apparently has more honors than ready money.
If one wishes something really unique, he should investigate Old hall in Wivelsfield. It dates back to 1600 and has four reception rooms, fourteen bed and dressing rooms, but only one bathroom. Hintor House in Byfield is still older. It belongs to the Tudor period and has fifteen bedrooms and one bathroom. If more than one person desires a bath at the same time in either of those mansions, most of them can jump into the lake.

Before buying any of those properties, it is well to remember that war taxes are pretty high in Britain.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

ANTI-BONUS LEAGUE

Whether or not the Ex-Service Men's Anti-Bonus league, which was organized here this week, is to acquire a membership large enough to justify it in claiming to speak with some authority for the veterans of the World War—that is an important question, and one the answer to which will be awaited with general interest.

The new league will have to contend, of course, with the officially expressed sentiment of the American Legion—though by no means with all the members of that body—and it will have to meet and reverse the rather natural tendency of not particularly thoughtful young men, of whom there are a good many in veteran circles as well as out of them, to respond with an enthusiastic "yes!" when asked if they wouldn't like to get a hundred or several hundred dollars of government money.

The task will not be easy, as the organizers of the league admit in the published announcement of their purpose, and they realize that only by energetic action on their part, and on that of soldiers who agree with them, will it be possible to prevent the "passage and signing, sooner or later, of a bonus bill imposing a heavy and unnecessary burden on the country's taxpayers, prominent among whom will be the veterans themselves.

The league's argument against giving money to all who served in the war are not new, but they receive new weight coming from this source. Especial attention is deserved by the statement that men who came back from the war without having been wounded, passed on to the "back" and that only 30 per cent of them all—not only not turned with their earnings ability, appreciably increased by the training which they had received in the service, but even while with the colors their net earnings were greater in most cases than they had been before.

These veterans say, too, what most people who did not go to the war have hesitated to say, that in case of a large percentage of the men a bonus would not change their financial condition at all, but "would mean at best but a short period of release from labor and a royal good time while the money lasted." That is a charge sure to be resented, but what usually happens to gratuities is well known—first known, perhaps, to the purveyors of what the league denigrates as "supplementary" call "a royal good time."—The New York Times.

A THOUGHT

THIN ICE

The FLAMING JEWEL
by ROBERT W. CHAMBERS
© 1922 GEORGE E. DORAN COMPANY

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Again the crimson ray of blood appeared in the tragic history of the Flaming Jewel, that priceless gem first stolen from the royal casket of ESTHONIA by the great international thief, QUINTANA, and then stolen from QUINTANA, and then stolen from MIKE CLINCH. Clinch brought the Flaming Jewel to his camp in the Adirondacks, where he boarded it for the education of his beautiful step-daughter, EVE STRAYER. Quintana appeared to recover the jewel. Also bent on recovering the jewel, was JAMES DARRAGH, going under the name of HAL SMITH, who intended to restore it to the countess. Eve escapes from the snapper clutches of Quintana with a packet which she thought contained the jewel, but which contained only two bars of chocolate. This packet, stolen from her by two of Clinch's men who went over to Quintana. One of them, EARL LEVERETT, murders the JAKE KLOON, for the false packet. Hardly had Leverett concealed the body in the woods when a hand was placed on his shoulder. CHAPTER II
A coward dies many times before Old Man Death really gets him. The swimming minutes passed; his mind ceased to live for a space. Then, as through the swirling waters of the last dark whirlpool, a dulled roar of returning consciousness filled his being.
Somebody was shaking him, shouting at him. Suddenly instinct resumed its function, and he struggled madly to get away from the edge of the sink-hole—fought his way, blindly, through tangled undergrowth toward the hard ridge. No human power could have blocked the frantic creature thrashing toward solid ground.
But there Quintana held him in his wiry grip.
"Fool! Mulc! Crazee fellow! What you do, eh? For why you mave jumps like rabbit! Eh? You expect Quintana? Yes? Alors!"
Leverett, in a state of collapse, lagged back against an oak tree. Quintana's nervous grasp fell from his arms and they swung, dangling. "What you do by that pond-hole? Eh? I come and touch you, and my God!—one would think I have stab you. Such an ass!"
The sickly greenish hue changed in Leverett's face as the warmer tide stirred from his stagnation. He lifted his head and tried to look at Quintana.
"Where Jake Kloon?" demanded the latter.
At that the weasel wits of the trans-robber awoke to the instant crisis. Blood and pulse began to jump. He passed one dirty hand over his mouth to mask any twitching.
"Where my packet, eh?" inquired Quintana.
"Jake's got it." Leverett's voice was growing stronger. His small eyes switched for an instant toward his rifle, where it stood against a tree behind Quintana.
"Where is he, then, th's Jake?" repeated Quintana impatiently.
"He got hoored."
"Bogged? What is that, then?"
"He got into a sink-hole."
"What!"
"That's all I know," said Leverett sullenly. "Him and me was travelin' hell-bent to meet up with you Jake, he was for a short cut to Brown's Valley—but 'no,' sez I, 'kumme a good hard ridge in a long detour when there's sink-holes into the woods.'"
"What is it the talk you talk to me?" asked Quintana, whose perplexed features began to dark.
"Where is it, my packet?"

EVERETT TRUE BY CONDO
YOU CAME IN HERE PRETENDING TO HAVE IMPORTANT BUSINESS. NOW, IT TURNS OUT THAT YOU'RE REALLY A BOOK AGENT. IF YOU HAD TOLD ME THAT IN THE FIRST PLACE I COULD HAVE—

PERFORMED THIS DUTY WITHOUT ANY LOSS OF TIME WHATEVER!!!

he wanted me to steal it. I told him I was honest. I fired a shot to scare him, an' he tuk an' run off! I wan't a-goin' to steal it off you, so help me God! I was lookin' for you—as God is my witness—"
He got Quintana by one foot. Quintana kicked him aside and backed away.
"Swine," he said, calmly inspecting the whimpering creature who had started to crawl toward him.
He hesitated, lifted his automatic, then, as though annoyed by Leverett's deafening shriek, shrugged, hesitated, pocketed both pistol and packet, and turned on his heel.
By the birch sapling he paused and picked up Leverett's rifle. Something left a red smear on his palm as he worked the ejector. It was blood.
Quintana gazed curiously at his soiled hand. Then he stopped and picked up the empty cartridge case which had been ejected. And, as he stooped, he noticed more blood on a fallen leaf.
With one foot, daintily as a game-cock scratches, he brushed away the fallen leaves, revealing the mess underneath.
After he had contemplated the crimson traces of murder for a few moments, he turned and looked at Leverett with faint curiosity.
"So," he said in his leisurely, emotionless way, "you have fight with my friend Jake for thee packet. Yes? Yee' amusing." He shrugged his indifference, tossed the rifle to his shoulder and, without another glance at the cowering creature on the ground, walked away toward Drowned Valley, unhurriedly.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

Nancy and Nick were riding along in the magic automobile as nice as pie.
They never suspected that Light Fingers, the bad little fairy, was flying right over their heads.
And they never knew a thing about the magic pill that Light Fingers had in a bottle.
This magic pill made everything it touched go backward, and at this very minute Light Fingers was trying to drop it into the gasoline tank.
At last the bad little fairy got the cap of the tank unscrewed. And in another second he had dropped in the magic pill.
The first thing Nancy and Nick knew, the little car stopped with a sudden jerk and they fell right off the seat onto the floor.
And the next thing they knew they were going backward at about a dozen miles a minute.
"Oh, my!" cried Nancy. "What's happened?"
"I don't know," answered Nick. "But we'll have to think of a charm as fast as we can. I've got one."
So he said:
"Magic auto, what's the matter? You act as crazy as a hatter."
"I don't know what's wrong with me," answered a voice. "But something's queer inside of me. Try another charm." So Nick made up this one:
"Magic auto, don't go back. You'll bump our heads, like Jill and Jack."
But that charm didn't work either. The magic automobile kept on whizzing backward right toward the cave of Twelve Toes, the Sorcerer.
Light Fingers was pleased to pieces.
"I was jokin'," gasped Leverett. "I was just a-goin' to give it to you."
"Is that my packet?"
"Yes, it was all in fun; I wan't a-goin' to steal it."
Quintana unbuttoned the gray wool shirt, thrust in his hand and drew forth the packet for which Jake Kloon had died within the hour.
Suddenly Leverett's knees gave way and he dropped to the ground, groveling at Quintana's feet in an agony of fright.
"Don't hurt me," he screamed. "I didn't mean no harm! Jake."

In default of answer by the defendant judgment has been entered in the Fourth District court for $12,402.22 against Jorgen Olson of Minn. and the United States Fidelity & Guaranty company in favor of N. J. Pierce.

SURE TO HELP SICK WOMEN

Mrs. Baker, So Much Benefited by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Anxious to Help Others

Lebanon, Indiana.—"I was completely run down from women's troubles and stomach trouble and for a long time was hardly able to do my work. I had some friends who had taken Lydia E. It is a wonderful medicine, and I give you permission to use my testimonial and my photograph."—Mrs. EMMA BAKER, 310 S. East St., Lebanon, Indiana.

Cranberries

The Fruit For Every Meal!

Cranberries are good themselves and make other foods taste good!

At breakfast—try cranberry jelly on hot biscuits or toast; it is surprisingly good!

For lunch—with cold cuts—cranberry sauce makes a most delicious relish.

For dinner—with roast beef—cranberry sauce adds a piquant flavor and aids digestion. Try these recipes:

Cranberry Sauce
One quart cranberries, two cups boiling water, 1 1/2 to 2 cups sugar. Boil sugar and water together for five minutes; skim; add the cranberries and boil without stirring (five minutes is usually sufficient) until all the skins are broken. Remove from the fire when the popping stops.

Cranberry Pie
Have ready a partly baked pastry shell. Pour in sauce when cold, made by the above recipe, put strips of pastry over the top, and finish baking in a moderate oven.

Always cook cranberries in porcelain-lined, enameled, or aluminum vessels.

To be sure of a selection of the choicest varieties—ask for Eatmor Cranberries.

The Greatest Showing of Ready-to-Wear in Bismarck

CALIFORNIA EXPECTS TO REPEAT
Coach Smith Pleased With Material

By Billy Evans
What about California?
Football enthusiasts in the east are already asking that question.
California's sudden rise to fame in the football world has caused Coach Andy Smith's eleven to be a much-talked-about aggregation.
Last year California was known as the "Wonder Team." At present that title will hardly apply, as a number of stars have been lost through graduation, and the ability of their successors is still uncertain.
Coach is Optimistic
Coach Andy Smith, never inclined to be boastful, says California will again demonstrate its superiority by winning another western championship.
At this writing it looks very much as if California's most dangerous foe will be University of Washington. Coach Smith frankly admits that the Washington game is certain to be troublesome.
A majority of the stars in the Washington lineup this year are players who attended the same high school and have been playing football together for the past six years. This is sure to be a distinct advantage to the coach in developing team play so essential to success.
University of Southern California is not saying a great deal, although it has high hopes for a most successful season. The material is good.
Stanford is an uncertain factor. The eleven will largely be made up of green material. A trio of last year's stars remain: Wilcox, Ludeke and Captain De Groot.
California will again present a wonderful back field. The line is rather uncertain. It may develop into one of the best California has ever had. Several of the forwards have great promise but have yet to prove their worth under fire.
"Brick" Muller Jr. Back
The famous "Brick" Muller is still on the job. Nisbet, whose remarkable punting featured the work of California last season, is back. In addition Coach Smith has Berkeley, Nichols, Erb, Morrison and Clarke.
Of the new performers the most promising are Spaulding, a halfback; Perry, fullback; Gallagher, center; Beam and Witter at tackle.
Coach Andy Smith is decidedly optimistic. He feels that with six members of last year's wonder team in the lineup, he should be able to develop another eleven that will win the Pacific Coast Conference championship.

ning up its usual big scores in the early games, yet the Centre team minus McMullen doesn't seem to have the strength of last year's aggregation. The proof of this will be tested in the clash with Harvard.
When Centre met Harvard in 1920 and gave the Crimson such a great battle, losing 31 to 14 in the final minutes of play, the little southern college made a decided hit with the Harvard followers. Centre proved to be a boxoffice attraction and was given a date on the 1921 schedule.
Centre's 6 to 0 defeat of Harvard was the big surprise of last season. Harvard found the little southern college the toughest kind of opposition. It is said that Harvard is desirous of dropping Centre. For that reason Harvard is certain to be at top form in order to defeat Moran's eleven.
It also looks as if Tad Jones might have a rather strenuous year at Yale. The small scores against Carnegie Tech and North Carolina make it seem that the Blue is not showing the progress expected.
A number of other coaches are facing a similar situation, among them Glen Warner at Pittsburgh. The 7 to 0 defeat handed Pittsburgh by Lafayette was a bitter pill. Warner had hoped to wipe out the defeat of last year's Lafayette in scoring this win without the services of Elliot, who played such a wonderful game against Pitt a year ago.
Hughey Jennings is positive that Pitcher Jonnard will be one of the stars of the National League next season. Jonnard is a big husky right hander with a world of speed. Despite the fact that the sight of one eye is very faulty, Jonnard is strong on control.
An odd major league record was set last season by Max Carey and John Gooch of the Pittsburgh team. They were the only major league players to punch out six hits in a game, and strangely enough both turned the trick in the same contest.
The two best shortstops in the American League last year were youngsters, Chick Galloway of the Athletics and Rigney of Detroit. Galloway stands out as the most improved ball player in the majors, while Rigney had a big season in his major league debut.
Shortstop Everett Scott of the Yankees has unquestionably seen his best days in the majors. Scott's fielding in the world series was a distinct disappointment. He failed to cover any ground. Grounders that went as base hits because he failed to reach them would have been easy chances for him a few years back.
Four American League players enjoyed batting streaks last season that lasted longer than 20 games.

George Sisler created a new major league record by hitting safely in 41 consecutive games. Ty Cobb formerly held the record with 40 games. Ken Williams was second with 28 games, Pratt with 23 and Tobin with 21 followed in order.
Two members of the Philadelphia Athletics' pitching staff established American League records for 1922 in the hurling line. Eddie Rommel hurled the most victories in the American League, 27, while Bryan Harris hurled the most defeats, 20.
Manager Ty Cobb of Detroit is strong for "Rip" Collins, who is to come to the Tigers next year in a trade with Boston. Collins has perhaps more stuff than any right hander in the American League, but has never been very successful. Lack of control, and a manager who could bring out the best that is in him, has had much to do with the failure of Collins to shine.
Nine games was the longest winning streak enjoyed by any American League pitcher last year. Joe Bush of the Yankees and Eddie Rommel of the Athletics shared the honors. During the 1921 season no American League pitcher won more than nine straight.
Manager Pat Moran of the Cincinnati Reds, while attending the world series, laid stress on the fact that Cincinnati had great chances to stage the event in 1923. Moran, who made a sensational finish with the Reds, taking second place on the last day of the season by winning a doubles header from Pittsburgh, is confident his club will make things merry for the Giants.
Ed Walsh, in his day one of the greatest pitchers the game ever produced, will not be a member of the American League staff of umpires next year. Walsh was forced out of the game late in the season because of illness and has decided to give up the national pastime. He is acting as a deputy sheriff at Meriden, Conn., his home.

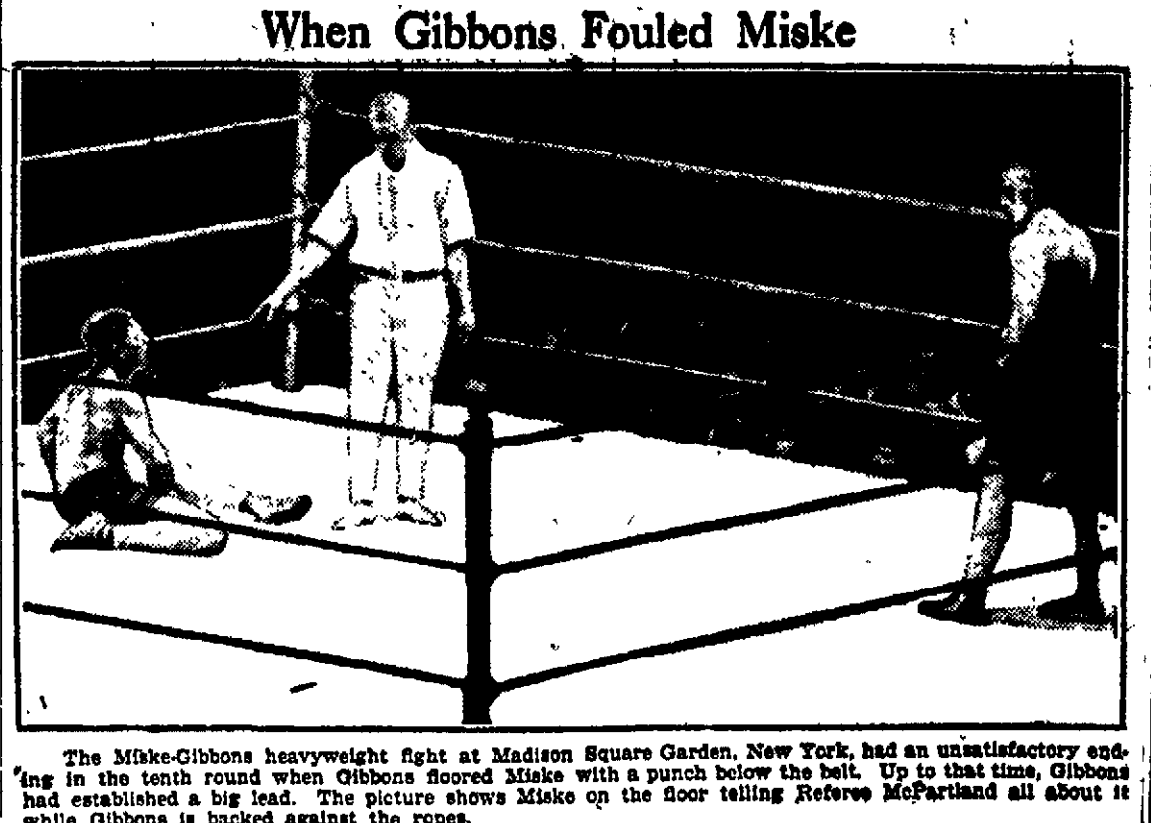

England at London, November 23 for the heavyweight championship of Europe.
St. Paul.—The Baltimore club of the International League beat St. Paul, American Association leaders, 4 to 3, clinching the Junior World Series by five games to two.
Marion, Ohio.—The Pittsburgh Pirates of the National League, ended their barnstorming tour with a 7 to 2 victory over Marion.
BEGIN MAKING FLOUR SOON IN FORKS PLANT
much space, the commission's idea being that the warehouse should serve as many farmers as possible. He was instructed to hire the necessary employees. The question of buying and selling grain in this department was left open for the time being, the matter of storage taking precedence.
"Dakota Maid" is Brand
Mr. Simmons and Attorney-General Johnson went to Minneapolis today to arrange for the inspection of grain at the elevator as required by U. S. laws, and to agree with government men upon forms of storage receipts and similar matters.
The commission completed arrangement for an accounting system, under which careful check will be kept from the start of crops to the manufacture of flour. For the best of patent flour made the brand, "Dakota Maid," has been tentatively chosen, and will be printed upon flour sacks with a design of a Indian maiden's head. For the lower grades of flour the sacks now in use at the Drake mill will be used.
The Industrial Commission also passed a resolution placing the matter of securing free cleaning, storage and milling in transit rates in the hands of the Grand Forks Commercial club traffic committee and traffic commissioner.
It is probable that the formal opening will be accompanied by a short program, at the request of Grand Forks organizations, at 2 p. m. Monday, Oct. 30.

Billy Evans Says—
The season of 1922 looks like an off year in football for some of the leading schools and coaches. I have prominently in mind Coach Bezek at Penn State.
The schedule arranged by Penn this year, which, of course, was supervised by Bezek, is a tip off on his opinion of the material that he has to work with.
For two years under Bezek Penn State has been undefeated. The best any eleven would get with the Nittany Lions, as Bezek's charges are known, was a tie.
Last season Penn State had six tough games on its schedule, while this season Syracuse, Penn and Pittsburgh stand out as the only teams that will offer serious opposition.
In 1921 Penn played Harvard to a tie, 21 to 21, in one of the most sensational games of the year. The dope was also a trifle upset when Penn beat the mighty United States Navy Academy eleven 13 to 7. Other teams to fall before Penn were Lough, University of Washington, Georgia Tech and Carnegie Tech.
The great Killinger is no longer at Penn State. Players like Killinger arrive on the scene only every now and then. Bezek knew that Killinger and several other stars lost by graduation would be missed. Bezek is a wise coach. Star players are not developed overnight, that is the reason Penn State's schedule is far from top heavy this year.
Coach Charley Moran, who for two years has been hogging the spotlight with his Centre College team, also has a big task before him. Moran has no "Bo" McMullen at Centre this year to carry out his orders. It is impossible for a coach to estimate the value of a star like McMullen.
Centre has started out by run-

Sport Of All Sort

An odd major league record was set last season by Max Carey and John Gooch of the Pittsburgh team. They were the only major league players to punch out six hits in a game, and strangely enough both turned the trick in the same contest.
The two best shortstops in the American League last year were youngsters, Chick Galloway of the Athletics and Rigney of Detroit. Galloway stands out as the most improved ball player in the majors, while Rigney had a big season in his major league debut.
Shortstop Everett Scott of the Yankees has unquestionably seen his best days in the majors. Scott's fielding in the world series was a distinct disappointment. He failed to cover any ground. Grounders that went as base hits because he failed to reach them would have been easy chances for him a few years back.
Four American League players enjoyed batting streaks last season that lasted longer than 20 games.

The mail pouch was ripped open by an automatic device while the Chicago & Alton mail train, bound from St. Louis to Chicago, was going sixty miles an hour. The bag was torn open and a main of five-dollar bills fluttered through the air.

Syrup Pepsin Loved
By Hosts of Babies

Half a teaspoonful will make a fretful youngster happy and playful
ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE
Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a trustworthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipated?" I urge you to try Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, subject to an adequate test. Write me where to send it. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 513 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Do it now!

THE mother has her choice of many remedies for her baby's minor ills, but she should be careful which remedy she selects lest she do the child harm. What might be safe for herself may do injury to an infant. You will find that if the little one cries and doesn't want to play that its bowels are constipated. First look carefully to the diet and give the child one-half teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. You will then see results in a few hours. You will not have to force it on babies or children; they actually ask for it, it is so pleasant-tasting and free from gripping.
Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with agreeable aromatics. The ingredients are stated on the package. It is a mild, gentle vegetable laxative that everyone finds effective and pleasant. It is better for you and yours than purgatives, coal-tar drugs, or salt waters and powders, which may concentrate the blood and dry up the skin; or mercurial calomel, which may salivate and loosen the teeth.
Use a safe laxative like Syrup Pepsin, and especially for the children, for invalids, growing girls, nursing mothers, elderly people, and persons recently operated upon who need bowel action with the least strain. Mrs. Lillian Brenington of Woodruff, S. C., always gives her children Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and Mrs. A. E. Blodgett of Muskegon, Mich., will not have any other laxative in her home. Your druggist will supply you, and it only costs a cent a dose. Try it in constipation, colic, biliousness, flatulency, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds.

TAKE DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN
The family laxative

go was found not guilty of criminal negligence, a coroner's jury decided this morning. Draxton had been held in the city jail last night on a manslaughter charge.
The top of the car caught Lebrun's head of neck, breaking his neck. Beside a young widow he leaves a mother, two sister and a brother of Rolla, N. D.
Following the verdict Draxton was released from jail.

Petro-

and Independence

SAYS the Chicago Tribune, "The automobile has increased the ability of people to take care of themselves—America's streets and roads are filled with motor cars because—the American in his own car feels the independence of going where he pleases and when he pleases."

The effective use of automotive power depends upon an adequate supply and efficient distribution of gasoline and other petroleum products. The users of automobiles and motor trucks of the Middle West would find themselves seriously handicapped were it not for the practically universal distribution of gasoline and oils, maintained by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). This distribution system is continually growing, expanding, and penetrating new corners of the 10 states served by the Company.

The number of automobiles in the United States increased 13% during the first six months of 1922 over 1921. The increase in the states served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) during the past two years was over 36%. These figures give a fair idea of the rate of increase of distribution facilities required of this Company.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) expands in proportion to the increasing needs of the people it serves. It maintains 3973 bulk stations, so located as to assure rapid distribution of gasoline and oils. The number of these stations is promptly increased as the need for them arises. It maintains 1605 service stations, situated with a view to the convenience of the motoring public. It maintains throughout the rural districts 7167 tank wagons, which serve the farmer at regular intervals, enabling him to keep his truck, tractor, or motor car ready for instant use.

This efficient service of petroleum products is maintained at a high degree of effectiveness under all conditions and is the dominant factor in assuring the independence of the motorist of the Middle West.

The commission last night discussed the old water bills presented for payment, which were carried over from the previous meeting. City Attorney O'Hare advised against paying the bills. Commissioner Thompson said the bills, some of which date back to 1913, should be paid, as the water company submitted the bills at a 12-cent rate, whereas if the company were forced to sue the city they would demand payment at the regular rate, much higher, he said. Under the franchise, he said, the company could demand payment. Some more recent bills of the company were allowed and the old bills were carried over until the next meeting.

The commission received a letter from Father William Hake of Beach praising Chief of Police Martinson for recovering valuables stolen from the Beach church. Bills were allowed as follows:

REV. NAYLOR'S SUBJECTS FOR WEEK GIVEN

Evangelist Talked to Audience Last Night on "Modern Pilgrim"

In his sermon last night at the Baptist church the Rev. J. E. Naylor speaking on the "Modern Pilgrim" said that there is no evasion of the cross of Christ no matter how many devices may be offered instead of it. He used Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress and Hawthorne's Celestial Railway in combination as the basis of the lesson brought. Rev. Naylor dwelt at length on the scene of Vanity Fair saying that right here is where many modern pilgrim halt in his journey and gets no further. Modern pleasures are likely to hinder the seeker after salvation because there are so many of them and they have the power of appeal which seems to be stronger than formerly.

The modern pilgrim, said Mr. Naylor, while taking religion so easily and without cost to himself, finds himself at last deceived by those whom he thought were his friends. The speaker made plain the fact that there is a great deal today called religion that will bear close examination before accepting it. A religion that costs nothing, that gives no concern to those professing it, that makes a substitute for the gospel plan of salvation will be very acceptable perhaps for a time but in the end it is bound to fail.

The topics for the week are, Tuesday evening: "Excuses"; Wednesday evening, "The Agnostic Answered"; Thursday, "The New Birth"; Friday, "Christianity Versus Worldliness." In this theme the speaker will deal with such amusements as are commonly called questionable. Friday night will be "family night." As far as possible, families are asked to be present as such.

There will be a series of conferences for Christian workers in the afternoon at 2:30 for all who will come for a Bible Study and prayer. Mr. Naylor will lead these meetings. The public is invited to come this evening and enjoy a twenty-minute song service before the sermon. Come and bring your friends to the meetings this week.

Judge Miller Raises Question of Indictments In Mohall Cases

Minot, N. D., Oct. 17.—When court convened this afternoon at 2 p. m. Judge Andrew Miller raised the question of whether the indictment against C. D. Griffiths charged with conspiracy to use the mails to defraud will stand following the dismissal of similar charges against Frank W. Wieser, W. W. Bergman and Jacob C. Peters, who entered pleas of guilty to a charge of using the mails to defraud. He called attention to the fact that if the dismissal of the indictment against the three amounted to an acquittal and the indictment charging conspiracy does not cite persons unknown, alleged to have conspired with Griffiths then the indictment against Griffiths will.

ARMY BUDGET DRIVE BEGINS HERE FRIDAY

Campaign for Annual Budget of Salvation Army Will Be Started

The campaign to raise the Salvation Army's annual budget will be started in Bismarck on Friday, Alex. Rosen, chairman of the Elks committee which will seek support, announced today. The budget for the next year for the Salvation Army is only $4,500, Mr. Rosen said, and it is hoped to raise it in a very short campaign.

The money goes for the maintenance of the organization of the Salvation Army in Bismarck, which aids in caring for the needy of the city and acts as a clearing house for charity work. Only the bare necessary expenses of the work are met by the budget, it is stated. The Elks lodge, which fathered the remarkable work of the Salvation Army during the war, has since continued to aid the organization.
